

DESTINATION MARTIN KERS GEOGRAPHIC ADVENTURES TO PRIMORDIAL PLACES NOWHERE

Martin Kers: "This is a golden age of photography and i'm loving it. Images of landscapes, cities, and people tell a a unique story about our personal space and how we relate to one another. In many ways, what a photographer does is give others a chance to look at their world and gain perspective on where we stand, and what that means. I've always aimed to address the bigger picture. The world is my Theatre and my focus. I am grateful to National Geographic to give me all kind of destinations. I simply create things to share with the world."
